D Magazine highlights Methodist McKinney Hospital physicians on Best Doctors in Dallas 2011 list

MCKINNEY, TX (November 16, 2011) - Methodist McKinney Hospital is proud to announce that a number of its physicians on staff were named to the prestigious D Magazine Best Doctors in Dallas list for 2011.

The following physicians on staff at Methodist McKinney Hospital made the top doctors list: Beth Anglin, MD (general surgery), Robert Bass, MD (orthopedics), Renato Bosita, MD (orthopedics/spine surgery), William Daniel Bradley, MD (orthopedics/spine surgery), Gretchen Champion, MD (ear, nose and throat), Robert Glatz, MD (emergency medicine), Nayan Patel, MD (pain management), Rashid Shafiq, MD (internal medicine), and Robert B. Simonson, MD (emergency medicine).

This year's D Magazine Best Doctors in Dallas list contains 843 of the top doctors in Dallas. The physicians were chosen by their peers in 64 specialties. D Magazine mailed 7,692 letters to local doctors and 2,467 letters to local pediatric specialists, family medicine doctors, and OB/GYNs. Votes were made using an online ballot on the magazine's website. Doctor peers could vote for up to three doctors in 43 categories and up to three pediatric specialists in 21 categories.

This year, 1,656 physicians and 165 pediatric specialists voted. A physician panel chosen by D Magazine selected the finalist based on the number of votes received in each category. The panel also had the ability to add a doctor to the list. The medical license status, board certification, and disciplinary status of each winner is investigated by D Magazine through the Texas Medical Board. Doctors do not pay to be on this list but can buy a paid advertisement in the Best Doctor issue.
